TV BRICS initiative for documentary makers 'Unknown Russia' presents new international stage

'Unknown Russia' a new documentary film festival is set for a cinematic leap in 2026, acquiring international status for the first time as it prepares to unfold in Moscow from 19 to 26 March. Positioned as a platform where documentary cinema meets real-world conversations, the festival aims to connect filmmakers and society while encouraging the exchange of creative experience and the making of films that speak to contemporary audiences.

With more than 350 submissions already received before the 15 February deadline, the festival reflects growing global curiosity about documentary storytelling centered on people, culture and change. The "Characters" nomination leads with over 100 entries, followed by "History" and the new "Soul of Russia" categories. Films have also been submitted in sections such as "Rediscovering Russia," "Ethnoculture", popular science, and industrial and technological cinema - signalling a wide narrative spectrum.

A key force behind the festival's expanding international footprint is TV BRICS, which joins as the international information partner for the first time, playing a significant role in amplifying the festival's global visibility and industry connections. Two productions from the media network - "Uralian Anomaly" and "Partitura. Young Music of Russia" - are part of the competition line-up, while special screenings feature films from TV BRICS' Argentine partners, underlining the network's commitment to cross-border cultural storytelling.

The jury composition further highlights this global vision. Indian filmmaker Upasana Mittal serves as an independent international expert with the support of TV BRICS, alongside Ivan Zakharenko from the network's thematic broadcasting and special media projects division. Beyond screenings, Unknown Russia is evolving into a full-fledged industry hub. Its business programme at the Moscow House of Books will host round tables with film institutions, discussions on documentary production and distribution, and sessions focused on international collaboration - reflecting a shift from a festival model to an ecosystem for creative exchange.

Since its launch in 2024, the festival has steadily grown, receiving over a thousand submissions across its early editions. Now, with global participation stretching from Latin America to Central Asia and beyond - and with TV BRICS acting as a key bridge between international audiences and filmmakers - Unknown Russia is positioning itself as a dynamic new player in the world documentary landscape, where authentic stories find both a cinematic stage and a worldwide conversation.

Malayalam film industry, Kochi. South Indian cinema has led a powerful reinvention of Indian storytelling across the globe. The audiences have appreciated the emotional depth, diversity, and stories the four dynamic industries have brought to life. Each industry has its own legacy, yet together they represent a powerful collective voice that continues to shape Indian cinema today. This year, Kochi becomes more than a venue, it becomes a celebration of unity, legacy and the future of cinema. We thank our partners, Kerala Tourism and Kamar Film Factory for making this possible."

the Best Actor in a Supporting Role (Male) category for Kalki 2898 AD, marking a significant crossover moment for Telugu cinema.

Shri P.A. Mohamed Riyas, Hon'ble Minister for Public Works Department & Tourism, Government of Kerala, said, "Kerala is honoured to host the landmark 70th Filmfare Awards South, a celebration that recognises excellence across South Indian cinema. Our state has long been a favourite canvas for filmmakers, offering breathtaking landscapes, a rich cultural heritage, and a deep-rooted connection to storytelling. Hosting Filmfare reflects Kerala's enduring relationship with cinema and reinforces our vision of promoting the state as a vibrant hub for film tourism and creative exchange." Mr. Rohit Gopakumar, Director WWM & Times Strategic Solutions Ltd., CEO Digital - Times Television Network, said, "It brings me immense pleasure to organize our marquee Filmfare Awards South for the first time in the state of Kerala. Kerala has been a massive contributor towards the identity of South India becoming a powerhouse for content, creativity and talent from South India. It is but natural to be elated in having this event at the nerve centre of Kamar D, Founder of Kamar Film Factory said, "At Kamar Film Factory, cinema has always been at the heart of our journey, and partnering with Filmfare for the 70th Filmfare Awards South is a natural alignment of shared values. Filmfare's legacy of honouring cinematic excellence mirrors our commitment to supporting meaningful storytelling and creative ambition. We are proud to be associated with a platform that celebrates the artists, technicians, and stories that define South Indian cinema, and we look forward to being part of this historic edition."

Jitesh Pillai, Editor-in-Chief, Filmfare, added, "As we mark our landmark edition in Kochi, we look forward to the grandest celebration of South Indian cinema. Tamil, Telugu, Malayalam and Kannada cinema the four powerful pillars of South Indian cinema continue to inspire audiences across the world with their originality and emotional depth. I extend my warm congratulations to all the nominees whose exceptional work has resonated so deeply with audiences."
